Axia Technology Partners Announces New Members to Its Leadership Team

Indianapolis, IN – (Feb. 3, 2015) – Axia Technology Partners, LLC, a leading national provider of converged IP services, announces three new members of its leadership team.

Jennifer Dalton joins Axia Technology Partners as the Director of Finance and Accounting. In this role, she is responsible for leading the finance and accounting operations, as well as providing critical support for the ownership and management teams. Ms. Dalton is a Certified Public Accountant who graduated with distinction from the Indiana University Kelley School of Business with a Bachelor's Degree in Business, majoring in Accounting, Finance, and Computer Information Systems. Prior to joining AxiaTP, Ms. Dalton spent 12 years at a mid-size public accounting firm where she specialized in tax and financial matters for closely-held businesses and their owners.

Jay Lesandrini joins AxiaTP as the Marketing Director. With more than 20 years of experience working in the technology sector, Mr. Lesandrini holds a B.A. and M.A. in English Literature, as well as an MFA in Creative Writing all from Butler University. In this new role, he will focus his attention on creating and implementing marketing strategies to expand brand presence, increase sales, and solidify Axia Technology Partner's position as an industry-leading provider of IP technology solutions.

Chelsea Shumaker joins AxiaTP as the Human Resources Manager, overseeing the day-to-day operations of the Human Resources Department and providing integral guidance on policy development, employee engagement and retention efforts, and employee relations matters. A certified PHR (Professional in Human Resources), Ms. Shumaker holds a Bachelor's Degree in Business Administration from Marion University, and has served in a generalist capacity in the consulting, engineering, and healthcare industries during the nine years prior to joining the company.

Axia Technology Partners has grown substantially in the last two years, and is poised for continued growth in 2015. "As a leading provider of IP technology solutions to businesses nationwide, these additions to our leadership will enable us to navigate the growth demands and continue to provide the level of excellence our customers have come to expect," said Josh Ross, co-founder and managing partner of AxiaTP.
