Company to showcase the Kerauno UC platform July 18-21, 2016 at API event

Indianapolis, IN – July 18, 2016 – Axia Technology Partners (AxiaTP), a national leader in converged IP services, announced today that it is showcasing the API of its Kerauno Unified Communications software platform at All About the API, to be held July 18-21, 2016, at Caesars Palace in Las Vegas Nevada. All About the API is the leading conference bringing together companies with APIs with the developers and product managers looking to be where the next opportunity lies. Visit Axia Technology Partners at All About the API in booth 512 to learn more about how to integrate Kerauno with existing software to improve productivity and optimize business workflows.

All About the API features educational sessions lead by experts across vertical markets as well as a variety of intensive hack-a-thons, in-depth company focused workshops, powerful keynotes, networking opportunities and an exhibit hall full of companies demonstrating the latest innovations in today's marketplace.

"We're excited to be a part of the All About the API Conference," said Jason Ross, Managing Partner at Axia Technology Partners. "APIs are becoming almost as important as the product software itself. Platforms that don't provide an easy integration path for third parties are going to be left behind."

Axia Technology Partners launched its Kerauno Unified Communications platform 18 months ago, and continues to see new third-party integrations, including billing systems, CRMs, and even proprietary company software.

AxiaTP has three people participating at All About the API, including Product Manager Ben Botti and Software Engineer Alex Goodman speaking in breakout sessions, and Software Engineer John Harden participating on a panel discussing how APIs are moving the market.
