Axia Technology Partners Wins Best of Show Award at ITEXPO 2016 for Its Unified Communications Platform, Kerauno

Indianapolis, IN (February 9, 2016) – Axia Technology Partners announced today that its Unified Communications platform, Kerauno, was selected as a winner of the Best of Show Award for Best Cloud Solution at ITEXPO, held January 25-28, 2016 in Fort Lauderdale, Florida. Winners of the prestigious Best of Show Award program are reserved for products or services that demonstrate raw creativity and technological innovation.

Kerauno is an enterprise-level Unified Communications platform that was built from the ground up with the customer in mind. It features an icon-driven, intuitive user interface with drag & drop functionality, which enables both administrators and end-users to quickly master many tasks that were often out of reach to them on legacy PBX systems.

“I think what impressed the judges at ITEXPO was our customer focus,” said Josh Ross, owner and managing partner at Axia Technology Partners. “We built Kerauno from scratch based on customer research, and continue to add features and functions that optimize everyday business workflows in order to continually add value to the platform.”

Launched in October 2014, Kerauno disrupted the Unified Communications market through its browser-based functionality that provides anytime, anywhere, any device mobility, and its powerful REST-driven API. The latest release features a number updates based on customer feedback, including DID Fax, Active Directory support, and Softphone Client support.

“The products and solutions nominated for the ITEXPO Best in Show Awards are a true reflection of the industry’s most innovative companies. It’s exciting to see what new technological developments the ITEXPO exhibitors have for us each year,” said Rich Tehrani, TMC CEO and conference chairman. “We are pleased to honor AxiaTP for their efforts and creativity in developing advanced, powerful solutions for the business technology marketplace.”
